An olive oil love story

Hi! I'm Katerina Mountanos. I'm a serial entrepreneur with a passion for family, living a healthy lifestyle, and, of course, all things Greek.

In 2020, I started Kosterina with input and inspiration from my husband, Kostas (who put's the "Kos" in Kosterina), after years of enjoying EVOO pressed from our families' olive trees in Southern Greece. We could never find a proper substitute here in the States for the fresh, delicious Greek EVOO we knew and loved, so we partnered with farmers in the region to develop a premium, delicious Greek Extra Virgin Olive Oil for the US market.

As we began development, I became an olive oil sommelier and, in addition to learning more about what makes a delicious and healthy EVOO, discovered that the majority of the olive oils here in the US are not what they say they are. We decided to focus efforts on making an EVOO that is authentically Mediterranean, delicious to smell, taste, and cook with, and, above all, loaded with health benefits. This same ethos has permeated all of our product development since, even beyond EVOO.

Health and wellness first

Here at Kosterina, we value health above all things, and infuse this value into all of our content and product development.

When I started developing our EVOO, I was shocked at the rampant fraud in the olive oil industry. Did you know that over 69% of olive oil in US supermarkets is mis-labelled as extra virgin? When olive oil is not truly extra virgin, it is missing the polyphenol (antioxidant) content that makes it so healthy for us. Kosterina EVOO always has a polyphenol content 400 mg/kg or more at the time of harvest (you only need 55 mg/kg to be considered extra virgin).

In addition to developing quality, healthy products, Kosterina is all about content for living a healthy lifestyle. We encourage you to join us in our quest to live a little better everyday by signing up for our newsletter and following us in Instagram.
